Love Is Here

Love encompasses the world like a thick fog, settled as far as the eyes can see; Love so sweet like luscious fruits on every branch of a tree.

Love so beautiful and abundance in ways uncountable as the stars; Love to preserve like the nectar in jars.

Love in every sound like an orchestra of birds singing; Love to be heard like wedding bells ringing.

Love in motion like the waves in an ocean; Love so profound and much deeper than emotions.

Love like a journey into eternity; Love so creative, a product of maternity.

Love so crystal clear, so wonderful and dear; Love way above suspicion and beyond all fear; No strings attached, open and bare.
