Thank you for your comment you posted on my blog. I really do appreciate your kind words. No its not my birthday, my birthday is on July 5th. I remember as a kid thinking to myself I cant wait until Im such and such age and thinking that once I make it to that age my life will be so much better and now Im thinking to myself I cant wait until Im 49 because thats when Im going to be released from prison but in doing that Im not living life Im living in anticipation of a life that Im not promised. Thanks again and hope I write something that peaks your interest enough that you comment upon.

I wrote this Poem for my wife for VAentines day on 2/13/13

- Not Enough -
Every tear you shed
draws me in your sorrow Your love
allows me to swim towards the light of your soul, That embraces me
and saves me from my darkness.

ON 2/15/13 I got served divorce papers from a Smiling tooth of the great beast "Rehabilitation"
The Best Part of this Pathetic rant is I honestly had no idea my ex wife was filling for divorce.
No my head was not stuck in the sand two weeks before the kick to my hearts nuts I got a 7 page letter OF love and the ache of missing me.

Best Part PT 2

my ex wife wants full custody like Im some fucked up drunk, wife slapping, child hating, smelly monster So with out saying so my ex wife says Im no good for her and our Daughters!

I Now wear my rigor mortis smile with out shame, I cant change the Past but through my Poetry and digging through my moldy soul maybe I can find a Purpose to smile again.

I Dont mind the rain,
It's the only time
my tears
Needs No explanation

what happens to me
once the weight of my sins
No longer weighs so heavy upon me?
