

GOLDfish 1871

Thanks So much for the Reply. I've added a new commitment this year. Well quite a few really, one is to Reply to All, even the ones that are very colorful against my Blog.

I'm Happy to say "Your Welcome" I hope my transcription was a help in some way to your world. Believe me your's was to mine.

I'm really grateful to be between the bars for Growing with me because when I started this "Blog" I still haven't realized how powerful words could be, or what a waste of time.

I had a great teaching moment not too long ago. I guess you could say I'm a Perfectionist, well use to be, thanks to this 12 Step program I work with a Great Sponsor & friends who, out of love, show me I'm not. First I've learned that's ~~not~~ not what life's about. Perfection is non-existent. That I am lovable and I can love in the process of living my life.

"Since I'm not perfect, I have to be accountable."

This program has given me standards of behavior and I must hold to those standards, admitting my mistakes and making repairs where I can, plus knowing that its ok some times to make mistakes allow me to be human.

So, Goldfish, Thanks once more. Your comment keeps me in that beam.

Billy
EACE,