

LOOKING OUT FROM INSIDE

I stare out at that side of the fence only through media outlets and my friends and family, It always seems like people are going through it or that it is hard out there, but honestly if life wasn't hard, would we respect it or would we just throw it away.

I would cut off both my legs and my left arm and have to be carried like a backpack just to be out there struggling to make ends meet, and I would enjoy it. I know that it sounds crazy but this place I live now isn't hard and doesn't have any substance. It isn't living, it's just existing. I understand that I can have freedom, because freedom comes from within.

What I really want is opportunity. Success doesn't just happen, I must make it happen from in here. I stare out there and I see all the wasted opportunities... Today I am constantly working at finding opportunities and making success happen for me and my people. The one thing this place I live in does have is hope and I am full of it...

Thanks for taking the time to view this...

I also am a inspiring writer I have posted a chapter from a book I am currently working on called LUSTED LIFE STYLE. Please feel free to leave me any feedback or comments
