

If we truly wish to ascend unto the higher realms of consciousness, we must strive as the Rose; we must learn to both weather and work with the elements; we must solicit their aid in our ascension as well as in our survival of life's many obstacles, trials, and tribulations.

Before we can hope to do any of this - we must first learn to conquer or master ourselves

 2/2013