StStephy: Thanks for the Reply! Yeah, I hope your right. I used to think everything was so screwed up cause nobody gives a damn... but now I'm beginning to think it's simply cause they don't know. We seem to have a media black-out in this country on some very important issues. For example, the whole D.D.A.A - National Defense Authorization Act of 2012 - where our government locks up & hides away anyone they consider a "terrorist" now - without charge or trial - or even if you give material or morale support to so-called "terrorists". You know how many people are labeled terrorists nowadays? Street gangs, bikers - legitimate dissident group members... etc...

They have this great magazine called Prison Legal News - started by this guy Paul Wright while he was a maximum security prisoner - (he's released now). I suspect he has Marxist tendencies & may be agitational, but still - how can things change or be fixed if all the corruption & crimes within this system remain unknown to so many people? I don't they can.

Anyways, I appreciate the reply - just knowing that someone else sees and recognizes these things. Have a good day!
