It is only as we live in conscious union with the Spirit, and consciously let It work through us, that we really live. — The Science of Mind page 463

Hey back to you Son.

I'm happy to see those three "happy-snaps" of you as a wee lad returned with your most recent reply. I'm certain that you do enjoy seeing them — and I'm blessed to not only have possession of all these happy-snaps of yore, but also to have a means of posting them in cyber-space and making them permanently available for you all to see. I wonder if you have any way to print-out copies of these pictures... or transfer them onto your e-files?

Did you get to see the six-pic's I posted to Will for his b-day? You can review all my past blogs over the years and you'll see a few other pictures here and there, if you can manage your way through that web. Let's see, I will post another 6 pictures for you all with this letter to you Yashua. Enjoy.

Young Will has yet to reply to my Montana/N. Dakota drilling proposition — or acknowledge the b-day greeting. I pray that all is well in his life and he writes me soon. No body is telling me much about your other siblings either, so let them all know that they are in my heart and prayers, and I'd love to know how they are all doing.

So what do you intend to send, son? Pictures I hope. Yea, I would much rather write directly — if you want.

W. Goehler, # K-77832, Box 409020, Al-244 Lone, CA. 95640 while you can send me your thoughts on this site whenever you'd like to as well. One way or the other, I'd like to read more about how you landed in Nevada — what organization you are working with teens for — and what your short and long-term goals are... and why LIVING IN THE "PRESENT" is called that. I love you. Be blessed.
