Dear schneehase

Good morning my dear sweet Friend! Hope my reply finds you having a wonderful day. Last night I received your comment and the other night I received your short letter and the post cards. Thank you. It's always great to hear from you.

Now this Daily Journal, is my daily thoughts. and with the topic of God a daily thing, I'm going to be commenting on it in my journal. Last night I received a pastoral letter, which I'll answer today. I always respond to pastors who discuss the biblical text. From the contradictory testimony to the unfulfilled prophecies of Jesus.

IF you would like to turn this blog into a biblical text debate, we can do that. I'll show how the bible destroyed my faith. and people can make excuses for the witnesses testimony (which is suppose to be under the guidance of the Holy spirit, which to be Holy is to be perfect) and why it's flawed. IF you want to, we can do it, your call. Let me know. I'm sure we can open up a debate about that over here, and it'll give me something to write about. This is a topic I've tried to stay away from.

on the prozac. I stopped taking it. And prozac is not addictive like heroine or even alcohol. you can get to dependant on it, but it's not addictive. I've taken Prozac OFF and on for 20 plus years. I stop taking it for different reasons. I don't like the side effects. I don't like taking drugs. I don't even like taking Tylenol. I believe if I didn't have Prozac, I'd have committed suicide. It helps me and that's all that matters. Our Governor Lawton Chiles (not sure of spelling) was taking Prozac, so a lot of people rely on this to help them through hard times.

I'm sorry to hear that you don't like the Daily Journal stationary. I do have some new ones that I'm trying to get copied, that you will like. I have a white tiger and some other stuff Raccoons, birds, and you see the duck, Panda, and puppies. I'll be doing other stuff like that and getting away from the skulls just for you and the other ladies who visit the site.

Well I'm going to wrap this up. Please take care of yourself and write again soon.

IN Peace, Love and Friendship.

Bonnie
