

arcadiaego:

Hi Elizabeth Anne! Thank for writing. Don't even feel the need to apologize for procrastinating. I'm the King of Procrastination. I'm just happy to hear from you. I get a letter from BTB every week with comments from people; some from people I don't know, some old friends, some new, some family, some of my "ex's" - I never know who will be sending me a few words, but it's always the highlight of my week. And I know it's so much easier for someone to hit a few keys as opposed to licking a stamp! And thank for that info on that poem piece you sent. This place has a huge library - about the best in the CDC - and I'm going to go look Henley up. I'm sure I'll find something, even if it isn't Invictus. I've been known to write a little, but I always feel too embarrassed to send it to BTB. I don't want to put myself out there like that. People may find out I feel shit! I did send in "Ode to Valentine's Day" last month though, but that's different! Anyway, thanks again for stepping by! Take care.

Stot