yes I am referring to Kryssy that you read about on my old blog above. She was a mess. I doubt anything she wrote me was the truth. She had the nerve to contact a magazine, lie to them about how we met, how she came to visit me, which the magazine could have easily called the FDOC and verified that Kryssy wasn't even on my visiting list at that time, and in fact never came in to visit. If she was lying about all of that to a magazine, I doubt anything she told me was the truth.

I'm just glad, in away that I ended it before it became another Jasie situation. Turning her away as good as she was taking care of me, that was hard to do. She made sure I had everything that I needed and or wanted. I just couldn't deal with the lies.

Okay, I'm out of here for now.

IN Peace + love
