

Reply ID: WWUT

Hey, VOICE12, I'm a little bummed that I currently don't have the ability to learn who is leaving comments, so I guess in reply to your comments I'll just ask:

What's the handle about?

From the comments, I take it that you dig music. I'm wondering if maybe you sing, or if you are a voice for an agenda, a group, or something else all together.

Also, the 12 adds to the mystique:

At first I thought maybe you've been singing or educating for 12 years. Then I thought it could be a grade, or even an age.

Warning: blogs and comments/replys are open to anyone, and I am cool with that obviously; however, if by chance you are a young person, and you haven't noticed from previous entries, I am a sex offender.

This stigma seems like a modern "Scarlet Letter" — one of the longest reads for me, a classic love, anyway — which I earned with my past choices. I carry my letter openly and honestly, with the character and integrity I have developed.

In reply to your comments: The quack is off his rocker, so to speak. We — the group — talk amongst ourselves, to maintain, so it's cool. I am also in Sex Offender Treatment, which also provides support and an outlet.

Working to keep the neurotransmitters correct.