

N. Korea Threatens U.S!!!

①

Seem like North Korea has been hostile against the United States since the administration under president George W. Bush, and the decision to engage in a raid-attack on Iraq, Overthrow Saddam Hussien and his government, which placed Saddam in exile, to be later hunted down and hung like a dog. Doesn't that sound like an episode out of one of those Jimcrow-slave era true story films? The black man is suspected of a crime or used to cover up the real perpetrator of the crime or a crime; the white supremacist would always rally up his boys and hope of a bogus reason of cause, to go in and terrorize, murder, set fires and burn crosses. By the way, has anyone ever asked why did white supremacists use Jesus's cross to terrorize? Anyways, innocent black men, women and children were killed until they found the person they believed, or felt, fit the crime. Mind you, No evidence of facts, physical or circumstantial, Their strongest proof was a Hunch!! would take that person brutalized and hang ~~him~~ him to his death. Same script, different movie. That the World, particular, the North Koreans sat back and watch the United States evade Iraq. in the process, killing innocent men, women and children to get to Saddam Hussien. And all for what? Cause of a hunch! trumpet up lies and false charges. United States killed a man whom was no worse than some of United States leaders in past history. Take Saddam Hussien's killings, 100,000 and others, I may not have knowledge of it and add them, compare them to the murders and killings, past history presidents have allowed, to be committed under their watchtower and get away with. I'm pretty sure my ancestors on the black side would've loved to see outside interferences, United Nations, NATO, Europe, Japan, Somebody, anybody abroad step in and at the least, ~~said~~ something repeatedly about the murders, mistreatment and abuse of the American people i.e. the Negroes that were brought to the United States to be abused, mistreated and killed. A Heinous crime. Did Saddam Hussien have a record of going to get people from Africa, or Jerusalem maybe to bring to his country to enslave, abuse, mistreat and kill. I only heard about the 100,000 killing of Kurds. as far as mass killings - Kim Jong un's father was imminent to go to war with the United States when he announced on National TV - News media that he had nuclear weapons and wanted President Bush to come for them, and what was Bush going to do about it, was the demeanor, holding a assault rifle firing it into the air. Mind you, the World sat back and watched for a response from the United States. I remember thinking "we were quick to evade Iraq off of a hunch Now we have somebody that is telling us on national Broadcast they have nuclear weapons and material. And the United States is not responding, what was really going on? I remember thinking, President Bush must be scared of this guy and that this country is not to be bullied or reckoned with. and we must know, they mean business. reason we were not going after them. Kim jong un's father died, And he became the successor to his dad, Apparently he is committed to keeping his father's legacy alive and one of his fathers goals were do take out the United States or would it be nice if I downsized it, to engage in a war with the United States. Don't this put you in the mind of a situation or situations that go on in the hood. a gang or thug that has been going for bad, and has been whoping butt and taking names for a long time, then one day meet they match unexpected. or you've seen a person so ruffless and terrorizes so bad, that a group of people will come together and kill that one person cause they feel hes too dangerous to keep alive and with that person dead there will be peace and safe to walk the streets. And when that happens, you always hear people say "you reap what you sow". Live by the sword, Die by the sword. Live by the gun, Die by the gun. Well... we may be able to defend the United States from N. Korean ballistic missiles, But will we be capable of a good defense while engaged in a war with Iran, Russia, Syria, China and possibly coming in on the fight The Africans. And why cant Israel fight their own imminent war to be with Iran. United States had said, we were not going to take up Israels problems (that they have created) It will be a mistake if we take on Israels battle. They don't want do what's right to make peace (give the Palestines back their land!!!) or be made to stand your own ground, fight your own war I believe the leader of Iran when he said, declared to wipe Israel off the map, looking at what they're looking at, pertaining to Israels' history - criminal history. Israel has caused bloodshed and occupied holy land that belonged to the Palestines (muslims). here it is, not only did you steal Holy land, you stole a Holy figure that was born in that land. Jesus Christ, robbed him of his true ethnicity and made him a white-jew with blue eyes and blonde hair, technically jews have adopted an Idol, and has the whole world mislead about jesus Identity and this portrayed Idol. People who know truth, feel this is a satanic thing to do, to steal, lie and kill is of the devil. I have read myself that the star of David is of that of the hexagram symbol. And if that is true, Israel ought to at least do what's right. Cause the world know, Muslim extremist abroad do not play around when it comes to something sacred being distorted, stolen, scandalized etc. Israel, it appears you represent the devil, And you have come to deceive, steal and destroy. If you mean well, Do what is right. or face the consequences alone. leave the United States out of it. You are looking to drag the United States into a World War II. You gonna get us all killed, Fool! There is so many countries that are against you and the United States. Our criminal history record is too bad, just like you alls. The good thing about it is, we just started trying to live up to our country's principles when Obama came into office. He is the only president who has tried to put emphasis on peace, peace, peace, respect, equality, unity and not with just U.S. citizens but the world, for the world looking at our criminal record we have never tried hard enough to put these principles in effect. Only talk about it and that's it, So when the president comes to you about a peace plan you should take him, or at least pretend too, the only reason I believe Israel has been spared up until now is because of president Obama's interference. I think they respect Obama abroad and knew that he is a genuine good person and really wants what is right, and peace for all. Instead of allowing Obama to be patient and persevere a effective plan to defuse, and bring on peace to the problems ahead particularly, North Korea, Iran and Israel. White supremacy in the white house are pannicking due to guilty consciousnesses and is pressuring and arousing up the president to harass Iran, and North Korea to drive them to war so ~~that~~ ^{that} their nerves can be at ease with a war they know will take place and then they set forth. Israel keep saying were giving Iran time to get nuclear weapons. I feel Iran and North Korea already has them; the missiles North Korea have tested are probably missiles they're playing with. Again, when President Obama was elected, because of who he is, plans of war, engaging in a war with United States was delayed and I feel the world wanted to sit back and watch to see if a change could be brought to the United States by Obama. With the people of the United States, I know the world is seeing progress, within government white supremacy is still showing up and showing out still up to no good, mischievous and friditious ways when it comes to helping the American people or making peace and better relations abroad. The Republicans are so hasty and in a hurry to annoy Iran and North Korea about nuclear missiles, failing to pay attention to their surroundings, as we say on a lower scale, as our survival technique, failing to pay attention and not realize, on a larger scale that we have countries out there, around us, that are not stable or having peace with the United States, can result to a coalition, to eliminate this country, and re-colonize it. White supremacy don't think that far, or believe in setting goals, plans, to achieve success in peaceful resolutions, economical crisis, guns, crimes and violence issues. due to the savage and barbaric state of minds, we are so ignorant to the facts, I truly believe that every since September 11, 2001 we have been placed under a magnifying microscope, watched and studied carefully, I truly believe we have made it easy for the enemy to figure us out. This country is so open about its military tactics, secret intelligence operations and information. for example, the military operation that killed Bin Laden white folks wanted to see the gruesome pictures. knew what all took place, who did what and how? One of the Navy Seals from the operation that killed Bin Laden couldn't wait to run his mouth, had to do a book. Hollywood couldn't wait to expose the operation thru a film, we exposed the courier that lead ~~us~~ to Bin Laden, we expose the doctor who help verify Bin Laden, and left him to be persecuted by the people who were for bin Laden. So whatever money he got, it probably won't be of any use to him. United States talks to much and always seems to have to give detail missions to the public, we're not the only ones in the world who are; TVs and radios, people all over the world are watching and listening to us. We are the most chaotic, dysfunctional, dysfunctional Country (Superpower) in the World. I watched Obama put ~~in~~ perspective this good ole common sense, not to expose pictures of dead Bin Laden or the military operation of the killing of Bin Laden, not too much later white supremacy had cajaded, manipulated and peer- pressured the president to allowing the pictures to surface and to eventually talking about the operation that killed Osama Bin Laden. They know that our soldiers are committing suicide everyday or almost everyday. What is secret intelligence? if all the secret are exposed after the fact. How are we protecting our military if we're exposing their weakness, to how they performed an operation and how they went about this and that. Information pertaining to our soldiers military operations secret intelligence etc. All the people need to know is that if a mission is complete or finish, if war is imminent or finished all the extra can be missed. If you think North Korea is the only country that wants a piece of the American Pie, Think again.

N. Korea threatens U.S.; U.N. tightens sanctions

By Rick Gladstone
and Choe Sang-hun
New York Times

UNITED NATIONS — The U.N. Security Council approved new sanctions on Thursday against North Korea for its underground nuclear test last month, in a unanimous vote only hours after North Korea threatened for the first time to launch a pre-emptive nuclear strike against the United States.

The North Korean leadership, which had warned the Security Council not to approve the sanctions, said it was responding to threats already made against it.

The North cited the U.S.-South Korean military exercises currently under way as evidence the allies were preparing for "a nuclear war aimed to mount a pre-emptive strike" on North Korea.

The tougher sanctions impose penalties on North Korean banking, travel and trade and were passed in a 15-0 vote that reflected the country's increased international isolation.

China, the North's long-time benefactor, helped the U.S. draft the sanctions resolution in what outside experts called a sign of Beijing's growing annoyance with Pyongyang's defiant behavior on the nuclear issue. The Chinese had urged the North Koreans not to proceed with the Feb. 12 underground nuclear test, their third.

Both China and the U.S. presented the new constraints as adding significant pressure on North Korea.

Whether it will change North Korea's behavior is unknown.

U.K. Ambassador Mark Lyall and U.S. Ambassador Susan Rice confer before a U.N. Security Council vote Thursday for tough new sanctions against North Korea, which threatened a pre-emptive nuclear strike against the United States. BEBETO MATTHEWS / ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW SANCTIONS

Thursday's resolution is the Security Council's fourth against North Korea. It contains new restrictions that will:

- Block financial transactions
- Limit North Korea's reliance on bulk transfers of cash
- Further empower other countries to inspect suspicious North Korean cargo
- Expand a blacklist of items that the country is prohibited from importing
- Place new constraints on North Korean diplomats, raising their risk of expulsion from host countries.

NEW YORK TIMES

3-8-13

"The strength, breadth and severity of these sanctions will raise the cost to North Korea of its illicit nuclear program and further constrain its ability to finance and source materials and technology for its ballistic missile, conventional and nuclear weapons programs," the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, Susan Rice, told reporters after the vote.

It remained unclear if China would be willing to go beyond the scope of the sanctions, cutting off fuel shipments and commercial trade that have in the past helped to keep the impoverished country functioning.

The resolution, which was drafted three weeks after the Feb. 12 underground test by North Korea, is the Security Council's fourth against the reclusive government.

Rice dismissed the North's vows of a pre-emptive nuclear strike, saying "North Korea will achieve nothing by continued threats and provocations."

"I can tell you that the United States is fully capable of defending against any North Korean ballistic missile attack," said White House spokesman Jay Carney.

In recent days, with the resolution set to pass, North Korea characterized the sanctions as part of an "act of war."

Earlier this week, it declared the 1953 armistice that stopped the Korean War null and void as of next Monday and threatened to turn Washington and Seoul into "a sea in flames" with "lighter and smaller nukes."