

revolution is possible, revolution now is as revolution has always been, by revolutionary masses, the difference in revolution now is that it is much more driven by revolutionary masses, & much less driven by revolutionary leadership, which means that revolution now is much more likely to be driven by revolutionary masses, & much less likely to be driven by revolutionary leadership, there is a basic indigenous organic revolution infrastructure, my individual personal position with in the social justice movement is the most egalitarian & the most grassroots, & i do not so much look to follow revolutionary leadership, but rather to work with revolutionary masses.

post for <http://betweenthebars.org/blogs/1491>