

CLOUD NINE?

I have heard of the expression "I'm on cloud nine" and have even used it myself but it seems if i do understand this correctly then i am infact on 'cloud nine' I was finally able to accomplish something that seems to have given a second chance to me. One i don't feel like i deserve but i know i have ~~worked~~ worked hard to achieve. Is it possible to change the way a person sees you? I don't know personally but a part of me hopes there is for my sake in this environment i live in. I used to be xso someone totally different from the one that sits here and writes this now but every aspect about who i am has changed and i would like to think that this has been for the better. But only when i am able to be some where else and fas far into the future will i know for sure. For some reason i have had a hard time sleeping but i have been able to write some new poetry. I am including these. They all are about the same thing. But i won't tell you what it is. Not that I mean to leave you guessing but sometimes these things don't need to be explained to be understood, they just are. I find myself about to be in a different environment because of my accomplishments . In a way I am nervous because I am prone to insanity and tend to repeat the same mistakes over and over again. I don't want to do this anymore. It's my hope that i can finally do something to better myself in a profound way and try to get an education that will be usefull once i leave here. This is not as long as usual ~~because~~ because of my lack of sleep but I hope you enjoy the poetry.