

reply id: Kjmv

for revolution to be successful it must be organized, to include defense forces, a very important part of a defense force is standard battle field medical services, to include standard follow up medical services, to include mental health services, a revolution has not been won with out these very important organization aspects, a revolution has not been successful with^{out} establishing & defending a national, transnational, & international grassroots communication network to bring to^{ge}ther tribes, cultures, & nations who support the revolution, a revolution is ineffective with out its own propoganda organs, to counter misinformation about the revolution, no revolution has been won by violence, the only thing that has ever won a revolution is a organization, a revolution makes for a vacuum in society, a successful revolution fills this vacuum, a unsuccessful revolution leaves this vacuum unfilled, this is the revolutionary struggle, the level of violence in a revolution is dictated by opposition to this struggle, a revolution has not been successful with out a national front, the domestic situation does not lend itself to a national front, so i put forth a umbrella social revolutionary party, post for http://betweenthebars.org/blogs/1491