

April 13, 2013

My reply to: rbgc

When I decided to tell my story, I did so with the knowledge that everyone who read it; would have an opinion. You stated that you see it as one sided, your right, it is My life story! However you decide to interpret the truth, it is still just that the truth. In closing, I still maintain my innocence and look forward to the day that I am granted parole and can return home to my children.