

The heart knows what it wants

The heart knows what it wants it understands the unthinkable.
It speaks volume on another level
You and I will never comprehend.
The heart will contest for a position where it feels it belongs.
The heart holds precious value what we try to take into that unconditional love
and
tender affection.

The heart plays a beautiful melody that can sooth your soul for a life time.
The heart pumps a formula called passion through your veins
it lingers with lovely rare sweetness.

The heart is made of rich velvet that keeps the body and soul warmed up for love.
The heart knows what it wants listen to your heart
it knows what it
wants.

By Chaire B