Thank you once again for your positive feedback, I love your poetry, that poem gave me goosebumps, why havent you tried to do something with that?

Your poem was raw, deep, and intense, I would love to read more of your work, I have alot of poetry I could share with you, if you have time available in your busy schedule.

I would like to correspond with you, and send you some of my latest work. You can send me your address on this website, and I'll contact you if you wish, because I am very intrigued by this "Jollyfuton" character! 😊 who are you? 😊 attract the urban communities, which they can relate to the stories that I tell in poetry form.

There's more foul language and situations relating to african americans...

Thank you for your response, its people like you who inspire me to write to tell my stories, and I'll continue to do so. I look forward to hearing from you in the near future.

Check out some more of my poetry out of the Boogie Chronicles, you could tell by the year 2012-2013 that's how you could tell the Boogie Chronicles from part 1, once again thank you hope to keep corresponding with you.

Respectfully,
