

- Abandonment -

I hear my children laughing and playing in the silence
I taste their tears upon these strangers lips.

I dream of all the lost moments

I should have shared with them,

As these wrinkles spread across this flesh

I grow more ashamed of my past.

The hell I suffer is self-induced

But my children have suffered because of me

Roland 8/25/12