RE: WILL BLACKS EVER REALLY BE FREE?

Dear Concern Reader:

As I sit at my dinosauric typewriter composing yet another [blog], I cant help but to contemplate, has blacks in this Country ever really been actually free?

And if so, has the black man and the black woman ever been held to an equal level of socially acceptability in the geographical area of North America. Why is so many blacks and hispanic brother and sisters accross the Country are enslaved on modern day concrete plantations?

How come there's no more civil right voices to call out and further, address this injustice being excercised outright and visibly clear throughout courtrooms accross the United States of America? Who knows, maybe, just maybe, whites were ment to master over the planet, and maybe, just maybe, blacks were ment to be a slaves and serve there master the white man.

Dont get me wrong, because I'm no racist, but I would like to know why or how the black man and woman came to currently graduate to such an unexceptable position on the social latter, and further, how can the black man and woman be socially content.

Maybe, just maybe, if the black man and the black woman in the geographical area of North America constantly reminded the entire world of the holocaust of slavery and the after effects that still exist to this present day, as the jews constantly remind the world, then the world would take actual true and construcive notice of the social conditions of the black man and woman in North America and take immediate action to resolve this problem.

The Bible teaches, Satan was casted down to earth from the heavens above, from God the creator, so that Satan could rule over the earth. So I wonder if those in political power are in fact serving their master Satan while intentionally oppressing the poor and maintaining slave plantations for the benefit of financial gain, at the expense of others pain and suffering.

However, who am I? a meir slave, a single voice from a dark place in North America, a concrete modern day plantation in the great slave state of California.

A slaves language lost and forgotton

Sincerly
