Dear Rita,

Howdy! I hope you're getting all my replies as I catch up. I think some of the "Reply 17's" they give me are the same.

I hope we do become friends. Sometimes my "speaking right from the heart" gets me in trouble. I tend to tell people what I think even when it pisses them off.

Sorry I caught you off guard thinking I was a woman. Don't you know any gay people? Unlike some of the people I know here, I don't want to change my sex. This is just how I am. I'm a girly-guy. In my next life I want to be born a woman, but as I am now, I'd be an awful-looking woman. I'm 6'2" & have size 14 feet! (Sorry, I can't convert that to your measurements).

I had previously posted a photo & apparently it was buried in a prior posting. I asked that it be posted with my profile. Did they take care of that? Can you now see what I look like? I'd love to see what you look like.

How is the coast in Belgium? I'd love to visit all of Europe. And it's so cool that you have a royal family! I love reading biographies of royals.

Yes, I am surrounded by men. It's nice "eye candy," but usually in prison there are few I can talk or relate to. Fortunately, there are a few other guys around here. There are some I don't want to be around, but c'est la vie.

Anyway, thanks so much for your support.
