

wolfkeeper: Glad you liked it, but I wasn't too happy with it. Watercolor pencils aren't as good as watercolors, and they aren't as good as colored pencils. Once in awhile I have a lucky accident with them.

How come folks like my wall ornaments, but they don't say much about my fiction or my political articles? Is there something about my writing that needs correction? Cause I mean, it takes way longer to put a piece of writing together than to make a wall ornament.
