

Finally Captured

Emotions blowing, scattered, lost and confused Shattered, broken, battered and abused Nowhere to go, nowhere to hide
Nothing to capture all the pain deep inside Feelings running wild and out of control
There seems to be nothing to take a hold Searching and longing to have their feet on the ground
Wondering if a true love will ever be found
Out of the blue comes someone from days long gone Bringing back memories of old school songs Capturing those emotions that were too wild and untamed
Taking away all the hurt, the shattered pieces and pain.
The warmth the kindness the realness the love wrapped itself around my very being Encasing not only my heart and soul
But my mind without me even seeing I am ensnared by your love like a butterfly in a net
And to be honest
I don't want to be released yet
It feels so secure and welcoming with your love around me
There will never be another place on earth
That I will ever long to be