Kat,

Your very welcomed for the words. I'm glad I can put a smile on your face and give you a sense of appreciation. Kids can be a ruckus bunch at times I mean, we were there at one point in our life so their behavior shouldn't come as a surprise. I say frustration was bestowed upon us as a way to let us know that the situation is getting intolerable and something must be done to change the situation. I'm even more pleased to read that you have a home of loving people that adore and care for you. And being even more selfless you turn around and share that with your students. Good job! I applaud you for that. If you'll permit me, I recommend a book to read it's called "Edison Gene: And the gift of the hunter child" by Thomas Hartmann. Very good book about education and it'll literally change your outlook on teaching!
