Dear Concern:

Here I sit in a cell in the State of California, a slave colony titled Solodad Correctional Training Facility, (CTF), location, Solodad California.

I should have been released from my slave masters custody immediately thereafter, the California, State voters passed the Ballot Initiative Proposition (36) in the Month of November 2012. However here I am Eight Months later, with the State Superior Courts, known as [Auction Blocks For Modern Day Slave Trade], refusing to allow me my 1st, Amend. Const. Right to Redress and Petition the Court; 6th Amend. Const. Right to Self Representation; and the vital 14th, Amend. Const. Right to Procedural Due Process And Equal Protection.

To add flams to the burning bush, the State is also attempting to take my money, (rob me), without affording me Procedural Due Process and Equal protection of the law in a Probate Court matter. Further, the State has absolutely [no] subject matter jurisdiction under State Statutory law to take my money. However, I am only a slave with only the rights that are afforded to me by slave master State and Federal Officials enacting and enforcing corrupt laws. I guess I should be very thankful if master even let my black ass off this plantation where upon I'm serving a 27-to-life sentence for petty theft which really should have been a disorderly conduct. I guess I could even sleep my black ass on the great streets of America and dumpster dive when I get hungry. Kind regard to all readers
