

Nicki,

Glad to see you again. I agree that being hostile towards those who have hurt me won't bring me happiness. Evil exists because we humans tear each other down. I don't intend to tear others down but I absolutely intend to let my success one day serve as a testament to overcoming adversity and I will derive satisfaction knowing that those who tried to keep me down sometimes succeeded but failed in the end. Kind persons such as yourself encourage me to push harder, go further and never give up. You are a true gem.

- Jeremy Pinson
8/6/13