

Lost Inside

I lay here trying to pray to a God I don't believe in.
trying to find the words for something that will Never happen.

Because How do you ask for Love?

Or even pray for it?

When its something you don't even know if you believe in anymore.

Because my hearts been broken so many times.

It feels like a messed up jigsaw puzzle inside
that can never be put back together again.

So again I'm lost in dark thoughts that will soon end up being my demise

When theres only Loneliness inside

So I just stay behind the Bars

Forever lost inside.

By

Joseph Thibodeaux