Dear Citizens

As some know and most not, that in California prisoners throughout seven prisons are going on their 52 plus day of hunger strike.

Do you not know about this? Are they not giving this story air time throughout all the news channels? It seems not and what seems even more is that the majority of citizens either turn their back to prisoners plight or they dont even want to harbor the thought of fighting for prisoners rights?

But why is not 220 or so prisoners starving themselves worthy of being in the news? Doesnt this story attest to the inhumane and torturous conditions prisoners face in Solitary Confinement? What's daunting even more fellow citizens is that you do nothing to help out and sit back as if this doesnt or wont have a affect on you. Do you not see humans when you look at prisoners? Do you not feel a burning sensation to help out those who most need it? Do you idly sit back and watch as humans starve themselves to death where they have no other remedy but to put themselves in physical harm and risk death to prove a point.

I ask you dear citizen, when one fights for rights (In any form) does not that person also help out those around him? Doesn't that lift up the humanity of all people? Doesnt that lower the bar of tollerance when looking at oppression and not acting? Doesnt that, the will to fight, give those who witness it hope? Doesn't it beckon them to have the courage to Fight too?

I am only one man but that doesnt discourage me to try to help out and shine light to the struggle. Public opinion accounts for much and I cant help but ask why are not more citizens outraged that the people who they 'choose' and 'elect' to run government positions are not being held accountable for their wrisdeeds? And if, government officials are not held accountable at what point will their actions deem it necessary.
