

Ronald W. Clark Jr.

THE EXECUTION OF WILLIAM F. HAPP.

page 10F2

I knew the man, not the crime, I liked the man, not his crime. I spent a year living next door to him, getting to know him. He said he was innocent, I hear that a lot, so never know who to believe. On the news he professed his guilt, and apologized for killing that beautiful 21 year old young woman. I don't like the crime, when I seen her photo on the news, I thought of my ex-girl friend Tracy. And I thought if he would have killed and raped Tracy, it would have taken an act of God to stop me from killing him. I know idiotic vengeance and I would have gotten it, one of the witnesses said, that anything less than death, would not have been acceptable. But the thing is, we as an independent idiotic individual wanting to exchange murder for murder to fulfill our blood thirsty vengeful desire, is one thing. But our Government who claims civility, human decency and whose held accountable through the United States Constitution is not justified in the inhuman act of exchanging murder.

Ronald W. Clark Jr.
Oct 16, 2013

Page 2
The execution of William F. Happ.

For murder. For that act is anything but civilized. we do not rape the rapist. And why not? Because its not civilized!" The American Government gets hell bent on killing. This is a sick country, that breeds evil deeds. Anything less than murder for murder, just won't do. The thrill of the kill, under constitutional protection. Civility... yeah America has the same morals as a low life cold blooded murderer. So I agree, when it comes to poor white trash, poor minorities, anything other than murdering the murderer, lowering their standards, to that of a low life unethical killer, just wouldn't be the American way. Civilized... yeah, and I'm a saint!"

one day people will look back on this and see us America, the same way we look back on the Roman Empire as a blood thirsty uncivilized barbaric nation. For we truly are a merciless nation, a nation that murders under the mantel of justice the poor, the uneducated, the mentally retarded. We are one nation, under fraud!

Bill is dead, his family suffers, what was accomplished?

other than our Government sinking to the level of a cold blooded ruthless killer.

Hey - it is what it is. open your eyes.

I knew the man, not the crime. That was 27 years ago. sad as it is, Bill is gone a victim of a barbaric vengeful Government. We need Change, and we need it now. gholishment is the key.

In Peace & Love
Bonnie

