Dear jeanluc,

I just wanted to say that I really appreciated your kind and inspirational words. Things like this aren't heard all that often in an environment such as this, which makes them even more meaningful when they are, and if my actions hadn't been worth it before hearing your words, they certainly would have been now.

As far as your comment regarding my making the most of my mind and heart despite my circumstances and consequences is concerned, the way I look at it, guilt or innocence notwithstanding, the Judge said I had to be incarcerated. He never said that I had to be miserable, so why not make the most out of whatever comes my way? :)

Again, thank you for your comments, and I look forward to hearing from you again, either on the blog, my e-mail: shawnlperrot@hotmail.com (I have a friend who monitors this for me on a regular basis, downloading, printing and mailing me anything that's sent to it), or my snail mail:

P.S. A question about your choice of user name. Is "jeanluc" intended to refer to the Captain of the USS Enterprise, from the Star Trek, Next Generation? Just curious.
