Tryin 2 Find work

Bydellae E Jones

Im unable to work, but Im not disabled, so how can I try, to put food on my table? Its not like I dont want to, Im definitely able, but with the rap sheet I got, they constantly label, never want to see, if Ive really changed, background check disclose my record, and my nickname. what am I to do? should I get on SSI? get a crazy check, cause they wont let me try. theyll never give a chance, to see if Im a good employee, if you seen me you couldnt tell, I had 2 felonies, you would never know, that I have 2 strikes, but if you seen my record, youll start to stereotype. Parole division want me to slip, put me in cuffs, nobody wont hire me damn! this shit is rough. If I went to a company with a nice shirt or tie, would I get hired, on the application should I lie? If I wore my glasses, and I talked real proper, get a job saying "you want fries with that whopper?" I want to be better, I need to make some cheddar, who will hire me, will anyone write a reference letter? I really cant determine that, but Im not gone quit, somebody will hire me, cause Im gonna strive for it. maybe get a 401(k), health benefits, thats some of the perks, dont label me a parolee, cause Im tryin 2 find work!
