MVP

BydeWarEpoem

I'm a poet! and I'd never thought I'd be,
"hey you firebug!" that's what they be calling me,
heard it so much, that it developed low self-esteem,
started having nightmares demons chasing me in my dreams.
Now I'm an MVP and skies is the limit,
but back then, my mind wasn't really in it.
I'm a poet, I feel I'm a testimony to all started in 2003, when I was stuck behind the wall, when I was isolated, where I didn't have freedom,
the fake friends I had, I really don't need 'em,
I still don't have anything, but I won't eat bologna,
try to make money, by being a living testimony.
I'm an MVP, and I didn't even play a sport,
my fame came after, I got convicted in court.
I didn't get no trophy, no one had paid for admission,
I got 21 years hm! that was a very bad decision.
Didn't get no sneaker deal, the road I traveled was rough,
tell you what I did get, some tight shiny handcuffs.
I'm an MVP, I never made it to the hall of fame,
didn't retire a jersey, or leave in the middle of the game.
when I was younger I had a talent, and didn't even know it I'm rising in the ranks, as the most valuable poet!
