

"Sometimes When I Look At You"

Sometimes when I look at you I can hardly believe you're mine, I think about how attractive u r, how caring & sensitive, how interesting & funny & I can hardly believe that out of this whole world of people I was ~~the~~ lucky enough 2 find u.

Sometimes when I look at you I remember what it was like in the beginning when we were just getting 2 know each other, I'll never get that nervous excitement I used 2 feel everytime I saw u & relive the tenderness of our very 1st kiss.

Sometimes when I look at you I get lost in memories of special times we've shared in daydreams of the happiness we've got 2 discover together

Everytime I look at you I realize how much I love the love we share & how very much I Love You.

Written By:
March J. Thomas

"A New Found God Of Understanding"

So many nights I would wake up to unforgiving screams

My mother would say it was my imagination, only a figment of my dreams

She said that the reason I couldn't cry was because I was strong

Though the tears I was crying inside my soul were tearing me down all along

On the outside I built up walls to keep out predators on the loose

Because I knew at any given moment I could become a statistic due to my roots

So many hate me for what I'm not but I'd rather you hate me for who I am

A New Found God of understanding confined inside this man

Written By:
March J. Thomas

Tell me what y'all think!