Tell Me Why

12-8-13

Greetings to readers of this Message in a Bottle via IT.
I am imprisoned confined to quarters solo isolation or orientation lock down for 18 days and counting. Xmas approaches, Turkey Day recently went by. The count down to 2014 is on.
Recently I wrote to Ellen De Generes mom and requested her comments, feed back or opinion on my proposal and that she advise me why the topics on her daughters show so infrequently delve into serious issues affecting women. Topics Focused on Focus peoples interest and concerns. What new films are about to be screened, celebrity marriages, pregnancies and divorces make for great gossip entertainment and laughter but these subjects all the time have the tendency to direct peoples attention away from relevant matters, issues and concerns that are of major importance. I explained that Ellen had a favorable rapport with 1st Lady Ms Obama and Opra Winfrey and would she consider doing a show or two shows on Women in the Military as front line combat troops, and the high rate of sexual assaults in the military on Women and men but most significantly on the former. These would be great subject areas to get Women and all genders involved, and, thinking about topics other than celebrities lives and movies. Every aspect of a womans body, love life, sexual prowess or shortcomings are discussed on the abundance of talk shows hosted by women and none of them touch on topics like the two I describe. It was once claimed that TV would provide a means to educate the world population and today with 100+ channels to select from 90% are broadcast of rubbish. This taken in the context of evolving crises on the planet earth and where more attention paid to events that engender these crises would be invaluable. This was my proposal.

I believe the public response would be huge and result in great PR for Ellen's show which also would elicit a favorable response from her shows executives and sponsors. Sponsors are waiting in line for the slots of those that would want to bail because of a format change on the show. The public's feedback would be insightful, educational motivational and encourage more people to become acclimated to having discussions with people outside their comfort zone social arena on issues that affect everyone. Included with my letter to Ellen's mom was a old school cut and paste by hand picture of Ellen's head on a massive female gorilla with the words Intelligent and Powerful in Bold print. Three months past and I have not received a response. I'm sure all of Ellen's mail is screened as is mail to her mom. I can't know if the mom received the letter. I wrote the mother because I know they are close and I felt the mother might be more understanding of where I was coming from. Anyone who ponders where are the heads of the audiences and question shows hosted by J. Springer or M. Povich re: 'he's not the Father' remember what the public is entertained by is what the public is controlled by according to Marshall McLuhan. Not judging the likes and preferences of others but making critical observations and then contrasting them with current events such as upper + lower level school shootings, murder and mayhem on college campuses not from the police or Ntl Guard. I sense that when our youth are so confused and miserable they wantonly take their and other youths lives it is a wake up call and a reflection on the price being paid for the ticket to entertainment $\frac{24}{7}$ that adults, parents and stewards of youth are eager + willing to partake in as audiences or guest in
