Hollow words,

Hollow words, with no true meaning. I love you but only through words. I hear it and see it all the time. Care - without any true action.

That's not care, that's not love, that's not compassion and mercy for an individual. No! It's just lip service. Actions speak louder than words. For instance, a woman came on the blog last year and left a comment about how her and her family write an individual here who has no friends or family to help him. and the man gets in about $20. a year. yet her family will not make any commitment to help him. Love him a neighbor. Hollow words, empty, meaningless, lacking love compassion and mercy.

Bill Happ, he had no real support. Often times when I cooked for myself, I'd cook for him. on canteen day I'd give him a couple of soups and cookies. At the end, I had a couple of people send him money, on death watch, to try to make his existence over there, a little better. I didn't tell him, "I love you." I showed him, through action. And he told me, through a message, to Anne, Thank you, and I love you. And it was hollow, I knew he appreciated what I did. I've seen my love, mercy and compassion for him. I couldn't do as much as I would have liked, I did what I could.

Actions always speak louder than words. more action is needed and less of meaningless hollow words. mercy, compassion, love, forgiveness put them in motion.

God bless you.
In peace & love
