

Reply ID: d8kb

Dear Calhoun 25

12/29/13

THANK YOU! And remain a friend. I'm glad you like my poetry. You sound like someone studied who truly appreciates the art and craft of literature. I have 25 books of poetry I have written. I am presently working on the 3rd and 4th Book of Sonnets. None of these books have been published, I am a prisoner with little outside support. Maybe the souls of the immortal poets seep through me because I have studied them at length: Wm. Shakespeare, Wm. Wordsworth, Wm. Cartwright; Robert Frost; June Jordan; Robert Burns; Langston Hughes; Nikki Giovanni; Emily Dickerson; Elizabeth Barrett Browning; etc.; etc. I don't think there is anything illusionary, or, imaginary in relation to my creativity in the freedom of being able to express myself good. I am alone and looking for companionship — is that too much to ask? I have some poetry that I choose not to post on blog page — but, I am open to sharing them with you via snail-mail. If you decide to write: William Irving #182906, J.C.C.C., 8200 No More Victims Rd., Jefferson City, MO, 65101. I love poetry and pictures. Best wishes!...