Dear Readers,

Happy New Year! I sense many changes coming this year & I hope they're for the better.

OK, someone had previously asked about my favorite writers. Well, I have a new one to add to the list: Khaled Hosseini. I previously read "The Kite Runner," which was excellent & I'm now reading, "A Thousand Splendid Suns." I have no idea why I put off reading it for so long. I just finished a chapter & am so caught up in what's going on in the story that I had to put it down. What happens next? I'm freaking out! This is a specially powerful book for women as it is told from a woman's perspective, but guys would like it too. Check it out!

I hadn't meant to write tonight, but here I am. I had to share that with y'all.

As usual there's been some crap going on. There's a creepy Hispanic predator sleeping on a bunk bed in the hall outside my door who's been giving me a hard time. I've told him multiple times since October "Túnoia" meaning "Leave" in Spanish. I am NOT interested. Well, I had a visitor recently & he's spreading all kinds of crap about me & this other guy (one rumor is we were caught "in the act" - not true). Plus, he went & got this guy's cousin to stand outside my door the last time the guy came by - just to cause trouble.

Anyway, I told him to leave me the fuck alone, & he & the other guy almost got in a fight, & now he's going around saying that I smell all the time like I've been fucking, including the odor of shit. I assure you that I am known for smelling like the cologne oils that we buy off commissary. I love my colognes!

Anyway, this psychotic zealous predator has really been giving me a hard time. I'm sending out energy to get rid of him & I've been successful with that in the past. Here's hoping it works again.

OK. I've got to get some coffee & get back to my book. What's next? Will things turn out OK?? Read the book!

Howdy again.

OK, the latest is that I've completely cut off my former friend (now) "Dawn". Dawn is the type of person who is very friendly, but who will then screw you over as soon as he can.

First Dawn tried to help some guy who ripped me off to get a copy card from me (for the copier). Then, someone owed me some stamps & gave them to Dawn to give to me & Dawn decided to keep them & tell me some lie about "losing" them. (I got them after I threw a fit). And now Dawn had the officer look something up about me on his computer in order to tell people behind my back & use it against me. OK. I will be honest & admit that this "thing" is my age, which I sensitive about. You may consider that childish & that's fine, but the point is the fact that he's doing it behind my back & using it against me with guys I "like". That's actually the point.

Dawn would habitually cut me down & say what a "bitch" I am (true), but at least I can be trusted & would never, ever do the devious crap that Dawn does - like telling 2 different guys that he's going to live with them when he gets out so they'll both send him money. Thank the Goddess he leaves in 3 weeks & will be sent to the sex offender's unit.

Love & Blessings, VD
