

REPLY ID Charlottelouise you could NEVER know how much you've affected <sup>ME</sup> Spiritually It has truly Brought Joy and greatly pleased me to have a Comment. It has filled me with hope. please do not let my poem lead you to believe what I go through is not unbearable. Being cut off from Freedom and Behind Bars alone is But a TIP of the ICEBERG and you've already made me feel human <sup>again</sup> although mistakes were never too terrible I do regret my decisions and I truly wish my life was never My 40th Birthday was a realization that if I look for help now I may never have the chance someone to talk to is the world at a difference someone that will listen and give feed back, I've Everything to try Pen-paling But a lot of people Grudges and I can't blame them one bit for to write to a prisoner, I haven't yet forgiven myself

Because I haven't learned how to, But you have Given me a Spark of hope with your words and they have truly touched me, and I would feel happy to hear more from you I understand People may feel more comfortable Blogging you are welcome to look at my info on Hope4Justice.com I do have a new address at Dallas Unit 938 FM 1673 Snyder Tx. 79549 or you may continue to Blog and I will still be happy to Reply through Between the Bars I think it is a blessing to have a System committed to helping us guys incarcerated. I wish the prison system were more devoted to helping us. Something you said about reliving situations really stood out I think sometimes we are meant to relive situations so that we learn to handle them more positively the next time its the situation that we know the outcome and still choose ignorance, that Bites those I try to focus on to correct the errors I've made in my past My drug addiction has been that bullet. And they, the system, hardly recognize it. I'm sorry this response is so late But holidays have slowed ② the page and my address Change But Now that Everything is correct things will Speed up on responses I do look forward to yours very much and I hope As you read this that you are in the Best of spirits PLEASE Comment anytime. and as often as you like