

Ronald W. Clark
Dec 27, 2013

IT'S NOT, WHAT IT IS

That's right, it's not what it is, and I will not get over it. Paul, who come on my blog and left a comment from Two Wrongs, Make it Right posted Nov 28, 2013 you know little to nothing abouts capital punishment and the machinery of death in these United States. And Bill's last minute admission you say will do nothing to prevent his journey into Hell. Where do you get the authority to make that decision? God said, I will have mercy on whom I have mercy, and compassion on whom I have compassion. Which confirms, that you nor I have the right to authorize condemnation. So maybe we should start by getting over that.

Mistakes come in so many forms. I know you've done something probably on more than one occasion incredibly stupid, where when you have time to sit down and reflect back on that moment, that situation, and you say, damn that was stupid, what did I do that for?!" And you don't really know.

Like the child who does something, and the parent says why did you do that? and the child says I don't know! The parent is like, what do you mean you don't know?!" Remember back when you was a child and you touched something, broke it ect. And you honestly did not know why you actually done it. It was an impulse and to this day, you don't know, what made you touch it, break it, ect. We humans are wired in away which we don't understand. yet we are so quick to judge and condemn one another. No it's time for change, and capital punishment needs immediate end. For utely nothing people thinking their going no, it's not what it is.

to be brought to an it accomplishes absolut dont commit crimes to get caught. it is. This is what it

Peace + Love

Tomie

