Those words take on a life of their own if you apply them to some of our daily lives. I don't know if your major is in school, but if you wish to help to think, I would start there.

Reading - I will never, never, advise anyone not to read. Reading has saved my life, it's led me to a college degree, and it's been able to keep me sober since 2011 - it's not the book's I feel the issue here, it's the time management, and I have nothing, but time, it would seem to the outside, you might say, "that's easy for you that simple." I don't know what news paper you read, but I read the "USA Today" - I feel it's all round news I need to keep me informed stay a top of most issues in the world. However paper's can be a bit one sided so I take them with a grain of salt and try to stay in focus. To be crucial I read my news paper in the A.M. when I'm also in the bathroom - that's all the time I allow it's not to mess with my day. And at the end of the time I flush and start my reality which is at the present. Your passion like mine can be a side ways we forget which way is forward. Feeling your doing just fine though. By the way in turkey you feel so much for, is the reason study harder here. I don't know your age, but I've heard stories of the 60's, just look at so many very same topics, and issues. Turkey is experiencing pains, as long as it's still with the E.U. they will be fine. Reading the news is useful, but it's not bothering you right now. You can't do anything right now about what's going on in turkey and I can

At the end of this Reply, if you feel like it reach me there. And please, I understand why you would want to. In in Arison. Either way, know this no matter how long it takes I will reply - That's how I'm responsible to my friends - Thanks you for allowing this.

Please don't forget the Serenity Prayer, it is just standing in line and life is happening all around you. It is just courage to change the things you can, and the wisdom to accept the differences.
