

1/15/14

the domestic united states lower class, lacks the technical base for even the most basic political military opposition structures, organized extremism anywhere has some sort of technical base, the domestic united state lower class, is a technical fear for extremism, can this type of technical support be provided to the domestic united states lower class from the outside? the domestic united state lower class is not receptive to this type of technical support from the outside, the struggle for humanity in today's world is primarily a working class struggle, whether its a working class under arms, or whether its a working class who use their bodies as weapons, & a world of social justice is a working class world, post for <http://betweenthebars.org/blogs/1491>