

① "Prevent A Burglary"

To any that has Been Victim to Burglary of a habitation from the mind of a Burglar. I know you've often wondered Whats going through the mind of the person that has victimized you, Disrespected your property Taken your most Valued Items and Stolen your Sweet memories. Keepsakes and Everything that you've worked so hard to possess. I start with the Realization of what I have done to you and fully recognize from analyzing if the shoe was on the other Foot how I would feel. So I start by giving you my full Hearted Regret and my Sincerest apology, I may not have committed the Crime personally But I full understand how much I have affected your lives and how much pain, and Suffering I have Inflicted. If I could go to Every Pawn Shop, Drug Dealer, and person to retrieve your possessions I would do it ① In a heart Beat, Just give you what is Rightfully yours. Somethings I couldn't give Back is security Its in hopes that with any information in Prevention - The only way I can even begin to give back. To help you and your family take the proper procedures in making your homes Burglar Proof the only preventions I can give is what I have personally dealt with although I've made a career of Burglaries I feel I have enough Experience to give you the most Valid information By Experience and Experience only. This information is accurate and not accounted from any Books or Studying I've lead a Life of Drug addiction and this is what has fueled Every wrong that I have done. and if it wasn't for that I'd have never committed a Crime. I'm not a true criminal But an addict. and an addict studies what he does ~~the~~ wrong to feed his addiction to perfect it. As sad as this All sounds I'm just being as open and honest It is ~~not~~ without remorse that I write all this and if any who reads this has Questions It ~~could~~ be my duty to answer and

3 give you the most truthful answer There is no order to even establish the information I'm about to give. I can only say that I've entered homes down to even Doggy Doors to open patio Doors For homes properly Built with alarms please ensure your windows are wired as well "The Glass" Because most windows are wired to go off if they are opened NOT Broken and just Crawled through. Doggy doors too Big aren't Secure Enough to prevent a Small/Thin Person from Crawling through them. Its Best to always double check and make sure your windows are locked along with patio Doors having the stick to prevent them from sliding open. Motion Detectors are a great preventative Because once they sound it will almost always scare the Calprite off Because he or she doesn't know if its an actual alarm or not. windows can be simply shattered to enter But having a motion Detector could prevent more of a loss than a broken window. Signs that mark the home as wired are always good and having lights that light up from motion are always good a burglar doesn't like to be put in

④ Spot light NOR does he like a dog that Barks, and when you hide your most Valued possessions Please Refrain From putting them in Common places like the Closet or Dresser or under the Bed. I've never looked for Valued Items in the Garage, or Kitchen or even Laundry room a Burglar will look for a home in a remote spot with out Vehicles having a extra Vehicle parked outside reduces your odds of a break in having a TV on inside is another good reason If you want at home ask a Neighbor to pick up any Stacked up Mail or Newspapers or ^{Door} Flyers Door Flyers indicate "Mostly" that No ONE is home "Here" It's like a Sign. LEAVING a light on in/or out could Mislead others to believe Someone is home. or a Radio Yes it may cost a little more in the long run but could also save you alot. Oh, and if someone comes up knocking on your Door with a lame excuse of cutting your yard or tracking leaves They were probly a Burglar and you were about to be their Next Victim. watch for those on foot who you have never seen in your neighborhood walking aimlessly they are just looking for ③ Some of the signs I have given you. I'm not happy about what I have done and I have a lot of remorse. But if there is anything I could do for you in answering questions to help I'd be happy to be of help. This is my small step in reforming my life to the good and making amends to those I care for. If you know anyone suffering from addiction and would like to know the signs, I can give you the most help by experience. I'd rather be doing something positive with my prison time than doing nothing. It is also hard for me to expose my past life in this fashion. But I feel I should accept my circumstances and learn to live life with the consequences of my actions and that is to be as open and honest with myself as others. This is my purpose in life. Now as a student of rehabilitation. If you have any questions or comments please do not hesitate. I wish you all well.
