

Games People Plays

For long people have been playing games.

They called these games:

Game of chance,

Game of death,

Head Games.

Games that plan theaters of war.

Men compete for victory,

in the game of war, they share the booty.

though it takes two for war;

only one side get to tell the real story:

of The Game.

Heard the "Game is to be sold,

not to be told".

Game of sport,

Hollywood's game of sort.

When one says: "Game",

it may mean Life, his lifestyle.

Perhaps, it's the game of the heart;

Head game, game of Love.

Maybe just a ball game.

One game comes with a hope;

and another with a loss.

And people continues to play.

Games People Plays,

people plays the games

and the games play people.

When one is compelled and addicted to the poker table,

he is taken in by the game.

He and the "Game" are one,

in spirit and in soul.

He is somehow reborn,

and in his veins, like blood,

The Game flows.

He made a covenant with no one;

yet, a covenant to the game, in his mind is sworn.

And he keeps on playing the Game, even alone.

Games People Plays

if addiction takes place;

people finds a way.

People plays every day,

people finds every way to play.

Sometimes, it's just a game;

most times it is the "Game".

Sometimes, one needs a name.

At times, a play have to be made;

many times, one needs to make a play.

If they must win, they must play.

Games People Plays (Continues)

But when the "Game" takes a turn,
People gets hurt.
Haven't you heard?
He took a big blow,
that he didn't see coming forth!
He is down;
and still making plays for a touchdown.
He he has to grasp his hold,
on these dice of bones.
He has to make a show!

For the Game, word of advice today:
Do not rise up to play,
if you don't understand how the Game is played.
Or you will be slayed,
seriously and become prey.
Stay away, stay away;
and there will be no game to play.
Go your way,
and live for the next day.
Do not Play!
