

Reply Id: ihcy

Thanks for your comments! I have so many good memories of ticket scalping. It was more than just actually ticket scalping because I got to meet people from all walks of life. Last concert I went to was a Rolling Stone Concert in 1998 at Dodgers stadium in Los Angeles, California. I had a few extra tickets left over, so I kept one and went inside and I surprised someone outside the stadium who couldn't get in with a free ticket.