

1/3/14

economic conflict, systemic, societal, institutional, social, economic, political, military & natural, is the most common form of conflict, along with social conflict, & military conflict, economic conflict is the most common form of conflict, whether systemic economic conflict, or natural economic conflict, such as drought & famine, the economic conflict model, is the conflict model most readily accessible for the working class, coordinated broad based working class economic action is possible, an example of effective broad based working class economic action, is the boycott, divestment & sanctions against israel to get it to comply with international law concerning the palestinians, a similar campaign helped bring a end to apartheid in south africa.

post for <http://betweenthebars.org/blogs/1491>