Dearest Rita,

Happy Valentine's Day (tomorrow). Sending you much love!!
So, I didn't really have an eye problem, but I try to get an exam + glasses whenever I can.

I don't remember the reason I was in leg from the time you're writing this. That posting is from last year. It was probably the false accusation of when someone said I was sexually assaulted (I wasn't).
It should explain why in the original posting from that date.

I'm so glad you had a great visit with your family + with George.
I bet you had a lot of fun with your grandkids. It would be cool to learn Dutch, but unless you can practice it, it doesn't do much good. I would love to move to Amsterdam.

I lived in Chicago for 2 years, although I had a job where I traveled out of town so I was away a lot. I absolutely love Chicago & it was the happiest time of my life.

Oneida is another Native American. It's one of the 5 Iroquois tribes from New York + Canada. My mother's mother was born in Canada.
I know some Spanish, but I'm not fluent. I don't practice as much as I should.

Your picture was mainly a profile so it's hard to judge. It seems that you look Germanic. I love your hair color, by the way. I wish I could dye my hair that color.

Yes, it's hard to talk to guys here 'cause I'm gay. People won't sit with me at "chow" or speak to me 'cause I'm gay. I've had guys move to different tables multiple times 'cause I've sat at their table.
Also, some guys will give the people who do talk to me a lot of problems and/or tease them so they won't want to talk to me.

Yes, I love "Vanity Fair" & also "Interview" magazines. They refused to give me both of them a couple months ago 'cause they had racy pictures in them. That's ridiculous.

Lovey Hugs,
