Dear Glitter

No - I'm not saying only money shows that one can have a friend Jane who I've been writing since 1983 years. She does not have material wealth. She did help me back in the early 90's when she could. She's the only person that's stuck around other than my mother.

But what I was addressing in Hollow words was these self-proclaimed Christians who will not help out those in need. Like that Brother here who needed a pair of shoes. See 'John 3:17-18. If anyone has material possessions and sees his brother in need but has no pity on him, how can the love of God be in him? ¹⁸ Dear children let us not love with words or tongues, but with actions and in truth. See also James 2:14-17. ¹⁴ good is it, my brothers if a man claims to have faith but has no deeds? ¹⁵ Can such faith save him? ¹⁶ Suppose brother or sister is without clothes and daily food. ¹⁷ If one of you says "Go and wish you well; keep warm and eat and drink," but does nothing about his physical needs, what good is it? ¹⁷ In the same way faith by itself, if it is not accomplished by action, is dead. So writing someone saying "Go and wish you well," but does nothing to help that brother or sister with their physical needs surely that person according to the scripture does not have the love of God in them. Please open your Bible and read what Christ said in Matthew 25:31-46. That's Hollow words vs. action.

Please take care.

God bless you.

In peace & Love

Janie
