Can you believe the audacity of George Zimmerman to show his face on the heels of the trial of another murdered black teen. He must have felt that he was being forgotten about as Michael Dunn dominated the headlines with a very similar despicable murder. He interviewed with two different news outlets (CNN & Univision) and said nothing of value. He couldn't even apologize to the family of Trayvon Martin for getting away with murdering their son. There wasn't the slightest hint of remorse during his interview. He dared to solicit sympathy for the infamy he caused.

God commands that we love & forgive everyone no matter how grave the transgression. But how can you love & forgive someone who expresses no remorse for getting away with murdering an innocent young man.
