People will argue that cis 'feminist' women have the freedom to flaunt and be free to express their sexuality. Nobody can deny that Myle Cyrus does show her sexuality. IS she just being free or is she still confined to male-dominated views, ways.

Money wise, the culture does pay well for it. Just look at strippers who can earn more than a 'working' lady. So is society to do away with these things or let people be free to do what they do? Here in lies the ~~conundrum~~ conundrum. If such act as prostitution, strippers, etc, are left to exist they not only further sexist and misogynist views but promote them. Tobacco is bad yet we as a society still allow it, are we to completely ban tobacco.

In conclusion I'll like to ~~ask~~ ask you what exactly is a liberal-democrat? Could you elaborate on that?

warmly,
