Killing each other, is a great way to resolve conflict between human beings. That's at least what America teaches, with its death penalty. Killing, is the solution to killing. It's proven, that this is not a true deterrent. Never has been, never will be. In fact the death penalty is too haphazard, engulfed in a racist, bias, prejudicial standard against the poor and under class that it cannot truly, serve the interest, in retribution. For men and women are more often than not, sentenced to death, not because they have the worst crimes, but because they have the worst lawyers. That's the way of the world, money talks, and suckers walk. Only in these cases, your going to walk straight to the death chamber!" money is power, money is life under these circumstances. High powered law firms, equals freedom, life. Court appointed attorney's amounts to death. There's no equality in capital punishment. We're not, resolving anything, we're creating madness, in a society that portrays itself, as the leader of the civilized world. For which all others should hold themselves to. yet we march the poor to their death, as we watch the rich walk away unscathed from America's court rooms and its capital punishment schemes. Examples. O.J. Simpson, Robert Blake and Christian Brando. Those are just the cases we hear about, so many rich people, fly under the radar. 5, 10, 15 year sentences. For the same crimes, that the poor will lose their life for. Equal justice! "No way, no how!" The death penalty needs to end, here and now. make it happen. your one person, be heard make a difference.

God bless all.

In Peace + Love
